Benefits of Membership:

Professional Development

Your ongoing development is critical no matter where you are in your career. Join in with a group that's dedicated to growing and evolving in their profession. We foster a supportive environment where you can dare to try new things and excel.

Monthly luncheon or breakfast programs

Great food and great company are reasons enough to love these events, but you'll also appreciate the expert speakers who keep you current with the very latest ideas and information.

Networking opportunities

Build your professional circle by joining in. We promote a welcoming environment where new and experienced members alike can connect around their common interest in human resource-related fields.

Seminars and conferences

Build your skills and expertise with our developmental seminars. Members themselves choose the topics for these events and activities, so they're always fascinating and timely. And, our mini-conferences qualify for CEUs to retain PHR and SPHR certifications.

UPDATE in your e-mailbox

Our members enjoy our monthly electronic publication, UPDATE; it's full of the latest on local events and fascinating discussions on current books, skills, and trends in human resources. It's also a great way to get introduced to our newest members.

Handy online membership directory

An easy reference to your colleagues, including titles, information, and cross-reference section by company and industry.

Getting involved

Get on a board, join a committee that interests you – or lead one! Find all kinds of opportunities to meet colleagues and help improve your profession. We also co-sponsor events with other Twin Cities organizations.

Giving back to the community

Join members as they work with community outreach programs like the MELD and Susan G. Komen Foundation.

Online job board

It's an ideal tool when you need to find the right person or make the right move.
